Review of Environment & Development

A set of five papers looks at developmental action plans based on inclusive conservation models, biodiversity-based agriculture, the rise of zoonotic diseases, sustained livelihood opportunities in rural areas, and employment of technology to better document community knowledge. page 27 onwards

Wildlife Trade and the Pandemic

With illegal wildlife trade taking centre stage in the pandemic, the efficacy of imposing bans on wildlife markets as a way to prevent future zoonotic-origin epidemics is critiqued. page 13

Dalit Representation in Cinema

The Discreet Charm of Savarnas (2020) highlights casteist prejudice in Indian cinema and the need for the movement for diverse representation to be institutionalised by film industries. page 63

CURRENT STATISTICS

Industrial Change in India

Avoiding the trajectory of deindustrialisation and dependent development necessitates a renewed focus on state-led industrialisation. page 40

New Cold War or Unbalanced Triad?

Conflict between the United States and China and Russia is not a social-systemic one as was the case in the Cold War, but the contest of one global superpower and two regional powers portends an unmanageable, turbulent world order. page 25

Internet as a Public Good

The new normal under the pandemic underscores that broadband internet has become a necessity, and it is imperative that access to it is subsidised and universalised. page 21

Flawed Policies for Migrants

For the future policy proposals for migrants to be effective, reliable estimates of their numbers are required, for which the government needs to invest in a large-scale migration survey across India. page 13

Strategic Inertia on LAC

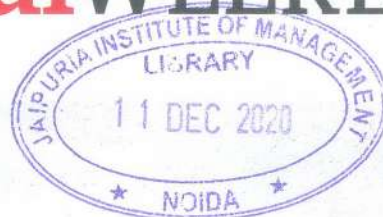

Escalation appears to loom large in India's thinking, resulting in adversaries taking advantage of its sensitivity as seen in the unyielding talks with China. page 10

Revenue Guarantee to States

Data on revenue from subsumed taxes for 24 states and two union territories during 2012–16 is used to investigate whether the 14% revenue guarantee was justified. page 18

Investing in Public Health Systems

A study argues that the COVID-19 crisis presents an opportunity for policymakers to prioritise investment in equitable public health systems. page 12

Inflation Convergence

The direction of convergence between core and headline inflation as well as the efficacy of the expectation channel compared to the aggregate demand channel is analysed. page 37

Science and the Public

Scientists have the moral obligation and responsibility to accurately communicate their ideas and results of publicly funded research to a wider audience. page 33

The Dalit Experience

The question of lived experience and Dalit subjectivity in a caste society is critically examined, highlighting “Ambedkar thought” as a decision that creates an ontological separation from the Hindu social. page 47

NOT EVEN GRAVITY CONTAINS HIM

Elon Musk's next stop? Mars—via the SpaceX Dragon capsule, of course.

INVESTOR'S GUIDE 2021

28 How to Profit From a "Normal" World

A post-COVID revival of the global economy could reorder the ranks of winners and laggards, delivering big gains for some of this year's most beaten-down stocks.

30 Investing in the Big Rebuild

BY ANNE SRADERS, JEN WIECZNER, SHAWN TULLY & MATT HEIMER

These companies and industries should rebound as the economy recovers, giving investors a reason to rejoice.

36 The Smart Money Plots Its Next Move

MODERATED BY MATT HEIMER

The pandemic has done less damage to the stock market than most investors feared. And our panel of experts still sees plenty of hidden opportunities.

THE FUTURE 50

59 The List

The fourth annual list of market beaters with the capacity for long-term growth, from Fortune and consulting firm BCG.

BUSINESSPERSON OF THE YEAR

75 Elon Musk: Rocket Man

The ambition-emitting entrepreneur makes the impossible possible.

BY ANDREW NUSCA & MICHAL LEV-RAM

46 Little Big Shorts

BY BERNHARD WARNER

Tiny "activist short" research firms have earned outside attention—and the occasional windfall—by shining harsh light on overhyped companies.

52 Female Founders Under Fire

BY MARIA ASPAN

As the ranks of powerful women forced out of the companies they created continue to grow, some in the startup world are asking: Are female founders being unfairly targeted?
