CURRENT STATISTICS

Labour Productivity Growth

Labour productivity growth is primarily driven by intra-industries improvement as India has not been in a position to move out the abundant labour force from primitive sectors and get it absorbed into modern sectors. page 50

New Criminal Laws

The new laws continue to reinforce colonial conceptions by increasing mandatory minimum sentences, providing the death penalty for at least four new offences, and upholding colonial policing methods. page 21

Union Health Budgets

The budgetary allocation to the health sector is too meagre to adequately fulfil any of the goals set by the NHP 2017 and is way off from its government health expenditure target. page 25

Data on Food Production

A multi-ministerial committee needs to be established to monitor the collection and compilation of data on agri-food systems according to a standardised data pipeline protocol. page 42

Economics of Telangana Verdict

The 2023 election verdict reflects an overarching message indicating a strong sense of exclusion among the growing segments of the population such as educated youth, smallholders, and the poor in general. page 14

POSTSCRIPT

Gender Wage Gap

While the raw earnings gap has decreased, most of the convergence has occurred near the top of the salaried earnings distribution as in the bottom deciles the gap remains large and has grown over time. page 38

Finances for Right to Education

Meeting the RTE requirements calls for a large fiscal push and a fair sharing of responsibilities in financing education between the union and the state governments, while remaining within a framework of fiscal federalism. page 14

Data on Marginalisation

A socio-economic caste census is needed to address the recurring demand of data for deciding the proportion of reservation and the identification of backward castes/classes. page 48

Dairy Cooperatives

Low milk prices, high feed costs, labour shortages, changing consumer needs, increased regulation, competition in the market, and volatile weather are among the major challenges faced by dairy farmers and milk cooperatives. page 35

Automobile Workers at Risk

A large number of workers in smaller factories, which are ancillaries for large automobile brands, lose their hands or fingers in crush injuries mainly as a result of poor safety culture and high productivity pressure. page 10

Higher Education in Bihar

Scarcity-driven circumstances lead to significant pressure on resources, leading to the prevalence of conflictual power centres in the functioning of universities, which affects governance in an amorphous way. page 49

Predicament of Women Prisoners

Solutions beyond the criminal legal system that embrace the social model of disability necessitate the removal of external factors exacerbating women prisoners' trauma while providing them with affirmative and enabling goods and support. page 18

Agricultural Futures Trading

The intermittent and prolonged suspension of chana and soybean derivatives can adversely affect price formation and transmission. page 56

POSTSCRIPT

State of Public Health Centres

Notwithstanding the general pattern of improvement in PHCs, the pace is far from adequate and the recent conversion of many health centres into health and wellness centres, in particular, has been largely cosmetic. page 34

Palestine and Imperialism

The weaponisation of the charge of antisemitism is not a simple ploy to destabilise the global movement for Palestine but a strategy to stabilise the sinews and networks of global imperialism. page 22

Subcategorisation and Justice

If the Chinnaiah judgment is declared bad law, an effort might be made in other states as well to further fine-tune reservation policies to benefit more castes in the Scheduled Caste category. page 10

J P S Uberoi (1934–2024)

At the heart of Uberoi's oeuvre was the application of the method of structuralism that attempted to reconcile the differences between the sciences of human and nature. page 24

Silkyara Tunnel Collapse

Incidents like the frequent Silkyara tunnel collapses reveal Uttarkashi's vulnerabilities exacerbated by geological instabilities and human-induced stressors. page 13

Mick McCarthy announced that he would step down as the republicans' leader in the Senate after the election. On November 1st, he said that he would not seek re-election, but he has not yet said whether he will stay in the Senate or move to the House. McCarthy has had a long career in politics, and he is known for his strong personality and his ability to connect with voters.
