POSTSCRIPT

Sub-classification Debate

Rationalisation of reservation benefits is most likely to take the form of chipping the pie at the edges, hollowing it out from within, and then arbitrating over the scramble for the pie. page 68

Small Farmers and Supermarkets

The data do not tell a story of sharp inclusion or exclusion of small farmers in the procurement by supermarkets but rather one of "weak inclusion" with various forms of conditionality for participation. page 60

North East Economy

An economic road map for the North East should include building physical infrastructure and upgrading connectivity, avoiding fiscal giveaways, focusing on high-value, low-volume, local resource-based industries, promoting tourism, and harnessing the region's hydropower potential. page 53

Global Biodiversity Framework

The target to increase the global coverage of protected areas has been opposed by the Indigenous Peoples and local communities and will gravely impede the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals. page 18

Appropriation of Assigned Lands

Transactions involving the transfer of assigned lands need to be halted immediately and the titles should be restored to the original Dalit beneficiaries. page 10

Eight papers, comprising in-depth village studies as well as analyses using nationally representative secondary data sources, cover the core set of issues such as land relations, structural transformation, incomes, and the changing structure of the labour market, along with issues which have usually received less attention in village studies, such as social and economic networks, the commercialisation of agriculture and farmer producer societies, in the case of the plantation sector. pages 30-95

Menstrual Leave

Instead of assuming that menstrual leave will make women unproductive, it is necessary to acknowledge menstruation as an additional blood work that women need to perform to maintain the work norms set by a patriarchal society. page 17

Frugal Technological Praxis

Not only must FTP be accepted by the "innovation hierarchy" but this very hierarchy needs to be demolished, and technological praxis needs to be placed across a horizontal spectrum, ranging from systemic formal innovation to FTP. page 25

THE LIST

54 The Forbes 400

The 400 richest people in America are having a rollicking time in the roaring 2020s. In all, they are worth a record $5.4 trillion, up nearly $1 trillion from last year.

Edited by Chase Peterson-Withorn

ENTREPRENEURS

64 Bling Billionaire

Jewelers sell sentiment. But Matthew Stuller made a ten-figure fortune in gold and diamonds by focusing on logistics, not love.

By Christopher Helman

MONEY & INVESTING

68 Crypto's Philosopher King

Coinbase's Brian Armstrong created one of crypto's central players, a fee-gushing monster that currently holds more than a tenth of all the Bitcoin ever minted. But now, in the cause of "decentralization," he's making a risky pivot. It's easy to be an idealist when you're a billionaire.

By Javier Paz and Steven Ehrlich

TECHNOLOGY

70 Mission Nearly Impossible

Eren Ozmen's Sierra Nevada Corp. fought for years to land the $13 billion contract to build the next nuclear-ready Doomsday planes. Now the billionaire's reputation-and her firm's financeshinge on whether she can pull off the most difficult maneuver in aerospace: executing a complex, top-secret government project on time and on budget.
