Trade Policy and Climate

Achieving the goals of the Paris Agreement on climate change requires support from the international trade system in the form of procedural changes and plurilateral and regional agreements. page 25

Numbers Are Not Enough

The Million Death Study tries to address the lack of reliable mortality statistics, but cognitive justice towards a broader range of perspectives on public health problems is needed for effective political interventions. page 41

CURRENT STATISTICSPOSTSCRIPT*Limits to Bankers' Pay

The success of the Reserve Bank of India's guidelines for regulation of bankers' pay will depend upon the regulator's aptitude for brokering compliance with these rules. page 10

Aporetic Nationality

In the context of the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, the landscape of citizenship in India is found to be burdened by the rule of judicial precedent rather than the legal ethics of certainty. page 28

Veracity of Child Nutrition

Should the recovering estimates of child wasting from the Comprehensive National Nutrition Survey, 2016–2018 be held as the outcome of phenomenal government performance, or be reevaluated for discordancy with comparable statistics? page 15

Benefits of Identity-based Voting

The welfare benefits captured through identity-based voting can outstrip the gains of reduced agency costs such that the need for parochial voting is never eliminated. page 43

CURRENT STATISTICS

Hindi as an Identity Maker

The political plank of Hindi as the state language builds on over-reported official statistics of Hindi speakers, by bringing independent and even mutually unintelligible languages under the rubric of Hindi. page 10

Remembering N Krishnaji

An embodiment of simplicity, unending curiosity and principled intellect, Nidadavolu Krishnaji was perhaps the last of those polymaths who did not need institutional certification of their distinctions. page 19

India's Intergovernmental Transfers

Unconditional central transfers create a culture of aid dependency among Indian states, whereby the state governments use these transfers to garner political populism and hence undermine their growth effect. page 29

Speedy Urbanism

Rather than "fast" or "slow" urbanism, it is only a spatially sensitive combination of speed that can generate more equitable and sustainable outcomes of urbanisation, whether in the global South or the North. page 36

ICDS in Uttar Pradesh

Despite rapid expansion in coverage, the benefits of the Integrated Child Development Services are minimised by the poor service delivery, and lack of infrastructure and departmental coordination. page 54

Review of Urban Affairs

Six articles provide a social and ecological analysis of the compounding urban crisis of waste and pollution. Dealing with the under-recognised aspects in the environmental–social discourse, the articles stand distinct from policy-centric analysis and foreground the analysis of actually existing conditions. page 33 onwards

One Year of Ayushman Bharat

With shortcomings plaguing Ayushman Bharat's implementation at multiple levels, there is a need to align the scheme with the universal health coverage framework to see to its success as a social security net. page 13

The Life of a Chowkidar

Instead of appropriating the "chowkidar" as a political tool, policy priority should be to ensure the job security of the real chowkidars, whose financial and working conditions are deplorable. page 15

Workings of the Gram Kachahary

The gram kachahary system in Bihar is an innovative dispute resolution system conducting arbitration and reconciliation at the village level, but is faced with financial, administrative, infrastructural and personnel-related challenges. page 29

CURRENT STATISTICSDemocratising Urban Governance

The system of directly electing mayors has the potential to transform the nature of citizens' participation in the management of their cities as well as the governance of urban local bodies. page 12

Overlooking Dalit Thought

An assessment is made of the meaning and the implications of the presence of "Dalit studies" in the pedagogical content of higher education in India. page 20

Diversifying Development

Plural pathways structured around cooperative human-nature relations are essential in every field to mitigate the unsustainability challenges posed by modernising development. page 32

Climate Change and Crop Yields

Reductions in the yields of rice and wheat crops in Punjab over the past decades call for the need to adopt climate-resilient crops, irrigation practices, and technologies. page 38

On the cover

On trial: Donald Trump, impeachment and American democracy: leader, page 7 and briefing, page 14. A plurality of Americans—but not of states—want the president impeached: graphic detail, page 77

• Central banks go green
They must pay some attention to climate change, but should resist mission creep: leader, page 8 and analysis, page 64

• Indian secularism under siege
A bill purporting to help refugees is really aimed at hurting Muslims: leader, page 9. The government's new citizenship law triggers communal tensions, widespread opposition and constitutional concerns, page 17 and page 71

• TB or not TB? Tuberculosis kills more people than any other pathogenic illness. New drugs, vaccines and tests offer hope, though—if there is money enough to deploy them, page 67

• Digital days of war
Cyber-mercenaries should be stopped from selling virtual weapons to autocrats: leader, page 9. Spyware is a booming business, page 57

The carbon-capture conundrum

NATO: the good, the bad, the ugly

A special report on the Asian tigers

Our books of the year

DECEMBER 7TH-13TH 2019

Britain's nightmare before Christmas

Australia	A$12 (inc. GST)	Hong Kong	HK$90	Korea	Won12,000	New Zealand	NZ$15.00	Sri Lanka	Rs1,200
Bangladesh	TK$50	India	₹400	Malaysia	RM30.00	Pakistan	Rs900	Taiwan	NT$275

China	RM880	Japan	¥1,250 + Tax	Nepal	Nr750	Singapore	S$13.50 (inc. GST)	Vietnam	US$9.50

On the cover

A divided country faces an election that will tear it still further apart: leader, page 13. Under Boris Johnson, the spectre of no-deal would return in December 2020, page 49. If the Lib Dems surge, they could hurt the Tories as much as Labour, page 81

• The carbon-capture conundrum Thinking seriously about pulling carbon dioxide out of the atmosphere is difficult, but necessary: leader, page 16. Climate policy depends on being able to trap carbon dioxide. That is hard: briefing, page 20

• NATO: the good, the bad, the ugly New troublemakers have emerged in the alliance: leader, page 14. NATO marks its 70th anniversary in chaotic fashion, page 44

• A special report on the Asian tigers After half a century of success, South Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and Singapore must reinvent their economies, after page 42

• Our books of the year The best books of 2019 were about the IRA, Harper Lee's lost work, rational economics and an Ohio housewife, page 75. And by our own staff: this year our writers went to the Moon and back, page 78

Stand and Deliver

By AARON PRESSMAN

UPS's $20 billion bet on e-commerce is already starting to pay off. Can a fleet of drones and a seven-day-a-week delivery strategy help it stay ahead of Amazon?

CORRECTIONS

Owing to a transcription error, "Ripping Up the Rules at Goldman Sachs" (Dec. 2019) included a misquotation of the firm's chief strategy officer, Stephanie Cohen. The correct quote is: "When we say 'operating efficiency,' everyone hears 'cost'—operating efficiency, you're a cost. What we're really trying to do is help people do their job more efficiently, and sometimes that's a cost thing."
